Relay Pools – While all males and all females are considered part of the relay pool, we will have published pools following selection. Athletes named are not guaranteed to run at any point nor are those who are not named guaranteed that they won't be running in relays. There are heats and finals for everything, so we need to be prepared accordingly.

Team NB Code of Conduct - All members of Team NB are expected to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with high ethical standards and to promote pride and good will for the province through their behaviors and attitude. Team NB members are ambassadors for the province from the time they begin to train as a Canada Games team member until they return home from the Games.

Please ensure you are familiar with the Team NB Code of Conduct as well as your sport specific code of conduct ( ANB Policy 8.0 and 8.1). Your sport specific code may have additional criteria, in which case you must follow the sport specific code. All athletes must be clear on the parameters and expectations for their behaviour and participation while part of Team NB.

Examples of types of infractions: use of tobacco and alcohol products by an athlete, disruptions after quiet time/curfew violations (lights out at midnight), disrespect or unsportsmanlike conduct, activities or behaviour that disrupt competition, pranks, jokes or other activities that endanger the safety of others, criminal activities.

All infractions, whether minor or major, have a procedure in place that will be followed as per the Team New Brunswick Code of Conduct Policy that can be found on the Team NB website at www.gnb.ca/sport

Team NB athletes or coaches that are involved in a discipline situation may also receive further disciplinary measures by their PSO following the Games. This may include being banned from other PSO/NSO competitions in subsequent years.
